

PUNKS ROCK IN FOR POLITICS

★ TO find out what goes on under those spiky punk hairstyles, tune in to SOMETHING ELSE (BBC-2, 5.45 p.m.).

The programme was made by teenagers for teenagers. The production team, 13 youngsters chosen from 2,000 who filled in questionnaires to tell the BBC's Community Programmes Unit what they would like to see, fill the 45 minutes with songs, sketches, stories and chat sessions.

A four-man punk rock band, The Clash, perform two new numbers "Clash City Rockers" and "Jail Guitar Doors." They also sit down with Joan Lester, M.P., to discuss politics.

One of the programme makers, Priscilla Sharpe, of Abingdon Oxon, said: "Up to now programmes for people of our age have been produced by older people."

PRINTS

60

20 exp.

	TRUPRINT all-in price
	£1.20
	£1.80
	£1.80
	£2.40

its on super lustre paper. Any size print film. Post to us in stout envelope